

verses

1. One win - ter day, the trees re - mem - ber, A - ni - mals wake be - fore the dawn, fee - ling a change as old as sea - sons, wel - com - ing back the grow - ing Sun.

2. Deep in the cave, the bear rolls over
Feeling the sunlight through the stone, Shakes out her fur and stumbles out to welcome the friendly brightness home.
3. Mice clean their fur and crows sit silent
Honoring dawn and darkness' end,
Humans who think they're lost to nature
Sing songs of hope and share with friends.
4. Animals' eyes know light from darkness,
Everyone feels the wind and tide.
Welcome the Solstice with the light that's already glowing deep inside.

Choral arr. by:
Ijod Schroeder 2006

The Animals' Yule

Hilda Marshal 1988

Chorus

Soprano

When the heart beat of the Mo - ther hides be - neath the ice and

Alto

When the heart beat of the Mo - ther hides be - neath the ice and

Baritone

5

S

snow. When your soul de - spairs of Sun - light ask the beasts they all - ways know.

A

snow. When your soul de - spairs of Sun - light ask the beasts they all - ways know.

Brtn.

*repeat chorus
at end*

fade to heartbeat?